

ÿp have satallite tv for almost free IF not free!!!

this is a tut by me that i use at home to get all the channels "not including ppv" for almost free if not free... i have every single channel that dish network offers and i dont pay a single dollar..... ok this is how it goes...

Get a dish 500 no matter how& buy /steal

Sign up with dish network for like top 100 that will give you like 100 channels& it would cost you like 29.99 or 39.99 not sure&

Then you need to find 3 friends& or parent friends that are interested in having satellite TV& .

Dish network allows you to have up to 4 receivers in one house with no prob.

So the next day, or when ever you find a person or 3 of them& call the dish company and tell them that you would like to activate your 2nd receiver and would like to add some additional channels& for that you would need receiver # and smart card # of that new receiver that is at your friends house so you give them the info and they hook the second receiver up& just don t tell them that the receiver is not in the house&

They will hook up to 3 more receivers per account and when you get all 4 receivers you can get all channels on them and just split your bill between the other 3 people that are using your subscription&

For me it works perfectly& I live in Oregon and I have a receiver in my friends house in Washington and two in California USA.

I don t know if this thing would work anywhere else but it sure works for me
