

Facebook Fun Trick To Impress

Hello Friends

If you really want to impress someone with your hacking skills then this trick will surely help you. Well this is actually not any hacking just a simple javascript trick but the other person will surely believe you as a hacker. This is one of the ways scammers create fake screenshots, fake AdSense & affiliate earnings and even fake Paypal transactions.

So what can you do with this trick?

You can edit content of any website including facebook, myspace, twitter etc

For instance see the pic below (click to zoom)

How to perform this trick?

Open any website of your choice (like facebook) in browser (Tested in Firefox & IE7, fails in the "Chrome search box") and clear the address bar of the browser. and hit the Enter button.

Copy paste the following javascript code in the address bar of your browser

"javascript:document.body.contentEditable='true'; document.designMode='on'; void 0"

{without quotes "}

And that's it. Now you can edit anything that is written on the page.

How does this trick actually work? This is a javascript code on the browser side. It is temporary and the changes will be gone once you refresh the webpage.

The javascript code `JavaScript:document.body.contentEditable='true';` makes the website editable in your browser.

The code `document.designMode='on'` tells the browser to turn the design mode on. The code `void 0` tells the browser not to show any error.

So, enjoy this funny trick to hack facebook, twitter, etc.
